

More than I ©1994

Words/Lyrics/Music Kathyjo Warden

She's had her times of feeling at the end—A bit familiar
He made no sound sneaking in the night—A bit peculiar She's just passing by

And they begin to dance to what was waiting

He had his times of not-a-lot-to-say—A bit familiar
She drinks her wine and plays a different tune—A bit peculiar Thought he'd have a try

And they begin to sing

So soft and sweet she said , “Who could love you, who could need you, who could want you more than I?”
If I ever let you down, we'll get through it all somehow

In their younger days, dreamed a different fate—A bit familiar
You never know what you'll get

If you believe in love you might get lucky

Who could love you, who could need you,
who could want you more than I?
If you ever let you down, we'll get through it all somehow

Hang on a little bit sister, it's gonna be alright
Hang on a little bit brother, I see your light shining down
Hang on a little bit sister, there's brighter days ahead
Hang on a little bit brother, the beast is almost dead
Hang on a little bit sister
Hang on a little bit brother
